Unique field course immerses students in post-Apartheid experiences

WINNIPEG, MB - Thirteen graduate and undergraduate students from Winnipeg will travel to South Africa next week to learn first-hand about the Apartheid experience, and how reconciliation is an essential part of healing. They will be joined by six South African students who are also taking the summer course. The University of Winnipeg Global College initiated the course, which includes two students from the University of Manitoba, along with the UWinnipeg students.
